Sharkonomics — Strategies for attacking market leaders

Sharks are not only nature's most revered killing machines, they are highly strategic and efficient predators. Studying their behaviour and instincts can provide lessons for companies of any size who want to attack the competition.

Stefan Engeseth, author of the new book Sharkonomics, argues that taking market share from market leaders is about being aware, creating presence and punching above your weight. By applying the behavioural traits of the shark, Engeseth has created a number of highly practical business strategies – including striking unpredictably, developing a sensory system, hunting in packs and how to locate blind spots. The more competitive your marketplace, the more effective Sharkonomics can be. After all sharks have been evolving for over 420 million years and are still very much the leaders in their space.

Why Sharkonomics?

Quite simply, nature is smarter than the likes of Stanford, Harvard, MIT, McKinsey, Boston Consulting Group, Bain, IBM, Apple and all of the other Fortune 500 companies. In nature, sharks have to move to survive. But in business most market leaders remain static, because they are stuck in history – and eventually they become shark food. Sharks don't perform by producing endless Power Points; they take chunks out of market share. Sharkonomics will reveal how the logos of market leaders will have more chunks taken out of them than a seal after a shark picnic.

It's not just about attack

Sharkonomics also includes tactics for companies to defend themselves against attack. It is important to state that Sharkonomics is inspired by nature; Engeseth's intention is not to spread fear – except perhaps in boardrooms!

"Stefan Engeseth is really a star and brilliant on stage! The audience loved his Sharkonomics lecture!"

LAURI SIPILÄ, CEO, FINNISH MARKETING ASSOCIATION

Deep research

Stefan, the author of Sharkonomics, dived with sharks in South Africa as part of his research for the book!

"[Stefan Engeseth] describes the attack strategies of a shark, but respects the intended victims enough to show how they can defend themselves. A stimulating read!"
PROF. PHILIP KOTLER

"You are swimming with sharks and you may not even know it. Stefan is your guide to not only surviving Sharkonomics but thriving in these adventurous economic waters."
BRIAN SOLIS

"Stefan Engeseth draws creative parallels to the world of nature and sharks and provides a fresh look at business and defence tactics. Sharkonomics is not to be missed!"

ONE — A consumer revolution for business

We are facing a consumer revolution. We need to let consumers into the process of creating new products and services. The gap between what a company promises and what consumers experience has never been larger. Some companies are making billions by working with consumer power. The ONE concept shows how that can be achieved.

*"The book ONE is about one of today's hottest topics
– how companies can benefit from the energy of the consumer."*
INTERNET WORLD

What is new and original in the ONE concept?

We are facing a consumer revolution that can not only break companies, but break whole economies. ONE is all about making consumer power work for you (not against you). We need to let customers into the process of creating new products, services and profit. Make consumer power work for your company instead of against it. Find out how Shell and Philip Morris had to learn the hard way. And why Spotify and Apple don't need to listen to this lecture.

What are the marketing problems for which the ONE-lecture will answer?

Consumers will not be reduced to binary notes in a laptop computer. The media consequently devotes more and more of their attention to discussing and reporting on consumer issues. Disenchanted consumers are turning their backs on brands they favoured only yesterday. How some companies are marketing it big, without spending so much as a penny on advertising.

Which measurable business results does ONE delivers?

The customers are the most important assets. Transform your company into a customer-focused one. Get business results by letting your customers into the process of creating new products, services and profit.

Recommended audience by function/position.

Management, Social Media, Business development, IT/CRM, Marketing, PR, communication, information. The ONE lecture and concept will appeal to all companies with customer/consumer relations.

Detective Marketing™ – “Increasing your creativity”

Stefan Engeseth's book, Detective Marketing, has been hailed by both marketing professionals and the general public as a landmark work in using creativity in the world of business. Distilling five years of work in one lecture, it's easy to understand why his ideas often make the news. Stefan was one year ahead of Coca-Cola: he asked, why not distribute goods such as milk and Coca-Cola directly to the consumer's kitchen faucet? A pipe dream? Coca-Cola didn't seem to think so. One year after the publication of his book, The Coca-Cola Company announced a pilot project for just such a Coke on-tap alternative in New York. It made headline news in THE SUNDAY TIMES and world press. Few business leaders have time to read and use complex theories; they're looking for inspiration rather than instructions. A detective in business searches for needs and patterns while the marketer communicates. At the meeting-point of these two, a framework of communication between the sender and the receiver is created.

The lectures are full of innovative ideas, from future-oriented to those bordering on the far-fetched. Get out of the box and in to new ways of working. Stefan even presents the idea of letting the product work as a medium.

What if Apple could make a projector to resemble an actual apple?

How would a new mobile phone look and work if Nokia really wanted to connect people?

Biography, Stefan Engeseth

After finishing his studies in economics, Stefan Engeseth pursued a career as a professional dancer. In his spare time, he read books on management, innovation and marketing, an interest that eventually led to the creation of his own related theories and concepts.

Stefan's ideas range from innovative and future-oriented to bordering on the far-fetched. Yet, they all build on the universal truth that without innovation and visions, companies will not grow in today's highly competitive business world. The question is, how far are you prepared to go? Stefan uses scenarios from companies such as Apple, CNN, Sony, GM, Google, Coca-Cola and Spotify to illustrate the enormous potential of all companies.

Over the years, Stefan Engeseth has worked as a speaker and consultant with international companies and Fortune 500 corporations. Regardless of the brand favoured by customers, common sense remains a useful competitive tool. His lectures have become extremely popular because they are stimulating yet easy to digest and use.
